

ADDITIONAL STATE OFFICES / BRANCHES / DISTRIBUTORS:

All additional offices / branches / distributors will be included in the CICA website member listing and member email communications.

Please mark where indicated to advise if these Branch contact people are to be regarded as the State Appointed Representative for CICA State Branches in their state:

- Where a tick is indicated below to nominate the state person they will be eligible to vote on any state issues instead of the National Appointed Representative.

- Where no instruction is given to CICA, authority to vote on state issues will remain with the National Appointed Representative.

This procedure has been put in place to protect the "One Member / One Vote" principle.

MEMBER CODE OF CONDUCT

This Code of Conduct has been prepared to outline the broad principles of legal and ethical business conduct expected of CICA members. It is a condition of CICA membership that all members will comply with the Code by agreeing to these principles.

- ◆ A member will conduct their business in an ethical and legal manner so as to reflect positively on the industry and CICA. In doing so a member will act with integrity and in a responsible and professional manner in the spirit of good faith and fair dealing.
- ◆ A member, if supplying cranes and equipment, will ensure they are in a safe condition, that are maintained in accordance with the Australian Standards and manufacturers recommendations and that are suitable for the required activity.
- ◆ A member will exercise all reasonable care to ensure any machinery is operated in a safe manner in accordance with manufacturer's recommendations, Australian Standards and all local rules and regulations.
- ◆ A member will supply personnel who are trained and qualified and hold all required licences and certifications.
- ◆ Members will promote this Code with all personnel to ensure they act in accordance with the provisions of this code.
- ◆ Any breach of this Code should be reported to the CICA Board, via the CICA Chief Executive Officer. Members will be prepared to co-operate with any investigation of any potential breach of this Code.

Members agree to be bound by this Code of Conduct upon joining CICA and payment of subsequent renewals fees will assume agreement of continued compliance.
